

Main Floor

Fritz Kola Sponsored bar

possibility of covering expenses for band by charging fee placing some stuff like wood or crucifixes here on the floor to prevent people from getting too close and thereby blocking the view on the main artwork

Main Artwork from flyer placed here to increase likelihood of it being seen from outside

Band Area

This area should remain free of any artwork. The band is strategically placed here for several reasons:

- it is located opposite the bar to avoid crowd congestion
- due to the room's asymmetrical pillar placement, this side offers the clearest view of the performance
- positioning the band in front of the windows also ensures that no artworks are obstructed during the performance

— = Placement of Artworks

Basement

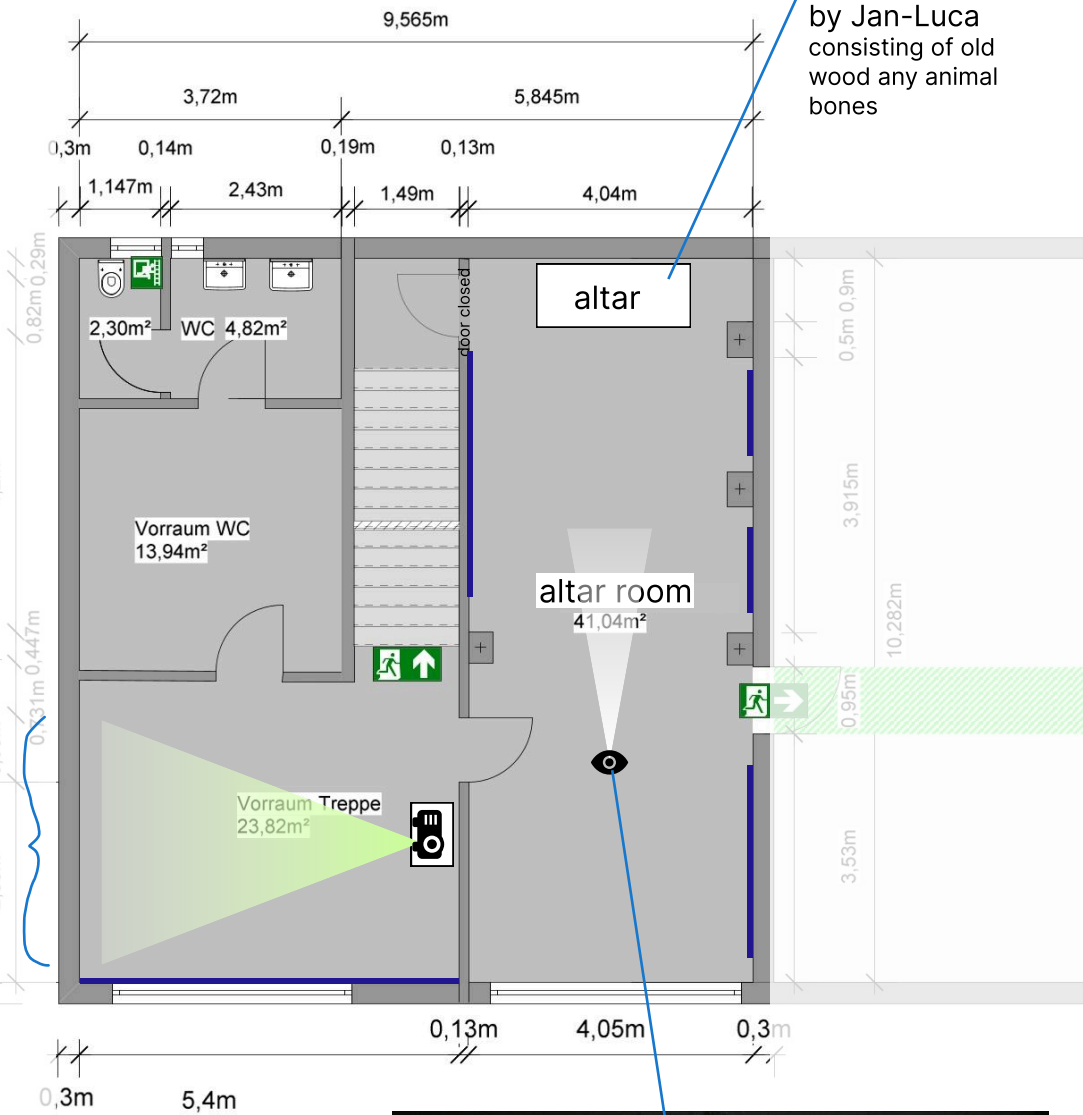

— = Placement of Artworks

by Jan-Luca consisting of old wood any animal bones

video installation depicting pagan ritual on the grave of Herman Lingg

Artworks by Tereza

Replicas of pages from the original print of “Die Völkerwanderung” by Hermann Lingg.
Die Völkerwanderung portrays the spread of Christianity across Europe as a dramatic historical transformation that displaced older pagan religions, myths, and traditions during the Migration Period.

